National Genealogical Society Releases Two New Videos

ARLINGTON, VA, 15 JULY 2011: The National Genealogical Society has released two new videos. Both videos are available for viewing by the public.

The National Genealogical Society online interview series presents Learning in a Supportive Community with Laura DeGrazia, CG, past president of the Board for Certification of Genealogists and co-editor of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record. Laura reflects on how the National Genealogical Society and the generosity of other genealogists have contributed to her development in the field. The video is available for viewing on the videos page of the National Genealogical Society website at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/videos\_online.

The NGSgenealogy channel on YouTube presents Stories from My Research with Helen F.M. Leary, CG (Emeritus), FASG, FNGS. Helen shares important lessons for genealogists as she tells intriguing stories from her research. The NGSgenealogy channel is located at <http://www.youtube.com/user/NGSGenealogy>.

Comments on our videos? We would love to hear from you. Please email the executive producer, Arlene V. Jennings, CG at arlenevj@earthlink.net.

Founded in 1903, the National Genealogical Society is dedicated to genealogy education, high research standards, and the preservation of genealogical records. The Arlington, VA-based nonprofit is the premier national society for everyone, from the beginner to the most advanced family historian, seeking excellence in publications, educational offerings, research guidance, and opportunities to interact with other genealogists.
