National Genealogical Society 2017 Family History Conference Fact Sheet

The National Genealogical Society (NGS)

- The National Genealogical Society is a non-profit organization founded in 1903. The National Genealogical Society is dedicated to genealogical education, exemplary standards of research, and the preservation of genealogical records. The Arlington, Virginia, based non-profit is the premier U.S. genealogical society with a national focus that provides excellence in publications, educational offerings, research guidance, and networking opportunities for genealogists of all skill levels, from the beginner to the most advanced family historian.

The NGS Family History Conference Background

- Since 1978, NGS has held an annual, educational family history national conference. The 2017 NGS Family History Conference in Raleigh will be its thirty-ninth conference.
- The conference rotates to different geographic regions and is usually held in May to allow maximum access to a geographically diverse membership. NGS four-day conferences offer a balance of instruction in broad research themes that appeal to a wide audience and specialized topics and research techniques targeted to the locale or region of the conference.
- In recent years, NGS conferences have been held in Ft. Lauderdale, Las Vegas, Richmond, St. Charles, Salt Lake City, Charleston, and Cincinnati. Typically, more than 2,000 attended these conferences, which averaged more than 80 exhibitors and 175 lectures.
- NGS Family History conferences offer numerous presentations in every time slot. Most lectures last one hour including ten minutes of Q&A. Attendees may also hear speakers at daily meal events, so in four days an attendee may listen to more than twenty-five lectures given by some of the most skilled and well-known genealogists in the country.
- Attending an NGS Family History Conference gives genealogists of all skill levels the opportunity to learn from leading genealogists and also to meet them and network with fellow genealogists, family history researchers, local historians, writers, publishers, and developers and suppliers of genealogical materials.
